What three words best describe you? _____

One of the goals of the music academy is to “promote excellence in music performance through the development of confidence, skills, listening, and background knowledge.” What is your background with music and how do you hope to see it grow as a part of the music academy?

An important component of excellent musical performance is a solid background in music knowledge. What experience do you have in terms of expanding your music knowledge? (music theory, music history, piano lessons?) How do you hope to continue to grow in those areas?

Having a thorough knowledge of music means that you will have to study a variety of musical genres and aspects of music theory. You may not enjoy all of them initially. Have you ever studied something that you did not like? How did you grow from the experience?

Because they do not have a designated class time, Music Academy students must be self-motivated and have good time management skills. How have you developed these qualities? How do you hope to continue developing them?

The most important aspect of the Music Academy is the integration of faith and music. What connections can you make between God and music? Does the intersection between theology and music interest you? How would you like to explore it?

Along with the courses and requirements necessary to complete the Music Academy (music theory, capstone project, etc.) you are required to be in an ensemble. Which ensemble do you plan to enroll in? (circle one)

- Bel Canto
- Jubilate
- Mens Choir
- Wind Ensemble
